

Juniors & Sophomores: Prepare for the test!

PSAT Prep Seminar

A Fundraiser for the Campolindo Parents' Club

An Introduction to College Entrance Exams

The PSAT (Preliminary SAT Test) is given throughout the country in October and is primarily aimed at college-bound juniors, although many sophomores take it for the learning experience.

For a few students, this is the test that determines National Merit Scholarship eligibility. For the vast majority of students, the PSAT serves to identify problem areas before taking the SAT.

In our PSAT Seminar, students:

- Learn test format and general test-taking strategies for the PSAT and the SAT
- Learn reading and sentence completion strategies
- Take a sample Reading PSAT Section

- Review math strategies and shortcuts
- Review frequently tested math concepts
- Take a sample Math PSAT Section

- Review strategies for the writing sections
- Learn frequently tested grammar rules
- Take a sample Writing PSAT Section

Final session in January 2010 (Parents invited):

(All schools distribute PSAT test scores by early Jan.)

- Analyze and interpret actual PSAT results
- Discuss differences and similarities between the PSAT and SAT
- Review entrance test requirements for college admission
- Recommendations for the college search process
